The right to learn, the power to achieve

● ● ● Program Focus

The Assistive Technology Program is a series of group sessions designed for students with learning disabilities who are using laptops in a classroom or at home as a means for supporting their writing. The program provides an overview of the Google Drive and organizing folders, the use of “speech to text” as well as practical writing strategies and solutions that will help students better organize and summarize written work.

All sessions are conducted in a small group format with a skilled facilitator
